NOT HIS KIND OF WOMAN BY ROBERTA LEIGH PDF

Timing is everything Adam Brooke and Diana Farrow were born into different worlds. He was a working stiff from the wrong side of the tracks, and she was the only child in a privileged home. But when they were alone together, they stopped caring about backgrounds. Unfortunately, the rest of the world wouldn't let them forget. And finally the differences forced the young lovers apart. Six years later, they meet again, their roles reversed. But one thing hasn't changed....

heroine cheats with hero

By RomReader

Business owner is shocked to find out that the boyfriend of her friend & temporary flatmate is her now-successful ex-husband. Hero left her 6 yrs ago after he made her choose b/w him & her parents. Both find that they have changed since their early marriage & that they're still attracted to each other. But Hero is still dating her friend who hopes to marry him.

Overall writing was good. Sexual chemistry, love scenes, emotional pull, & pacing were good also. My low rating is due to the 1-sided romance, heroine's regression, Hero's character, & cheating. Let me elaborate. The story progressed well, letting us see how the heroine was before, during, & after their marriage ended. Heroine showed emotional growth & gumption until she sees Hero again. Then, things went downhill from there. Heroine became a doormat & chases Hero like she did in the past to the point that she actually had sex with him while her friend(Hero's current girlfriend) was close by. She also easily forgave him & took him back. He made her choose between her parents & himself, knowing that she valued helping her mother who suffered from severe depression. Their romance was one-sided with heroine clearly in love with him. She was the pursuer & Hero condescended her with his favors. Even at the end, he didn't seem as in love with her as she is with him. He desired her & felt flattered by her affections. But he was never truly "in love" with heroine. He didn't bother to look her up in the 6 years they were apart, had other affairs, & only thought about her when he considered marrying her friend. He only made the decision to choose heroine over his girlfriend after their sexual encounter. He was self-serving, cheating user. He used his girlfriend to make heroine jealous & cheated on her with heroine. HEA doubtful.

Read only if you're interested in romance where heroine chases after self-serving Hero.

Good M & B Book

By Pholuke

I read this book in high school and I thought the story could/shoulda been made into a bestseller!!! I thought it was that good, so i ordered for it 10 years later and still loved it although I thought Adam was a bit too harsh....

Not His Kind of Woman by Roberta Leigh (Large Print Harlequin)

By Ketzel

Description from the book back cover:

'The timing is wrong for us, Di. Maybe if we meet ten years on - but not now when I've nothing to offer you.' Adam tried to be sensible for both of them, but Diana was strong-willed and used to getting her own way. She manipulated him into marriage and lived to regret it. Now they met again in vastly different circumstances and there was absolutely no point in raking over the dead ashes of their past relationship. But this time Adam was calling shots. And it seemed as if he still had a score to settle with her ...
